

حيوانات در قاب طراحی

DRWING OF ANIMALS

Christopher Hart

طراح: کریستوفر هارت گردآوری: محمد علیزاده

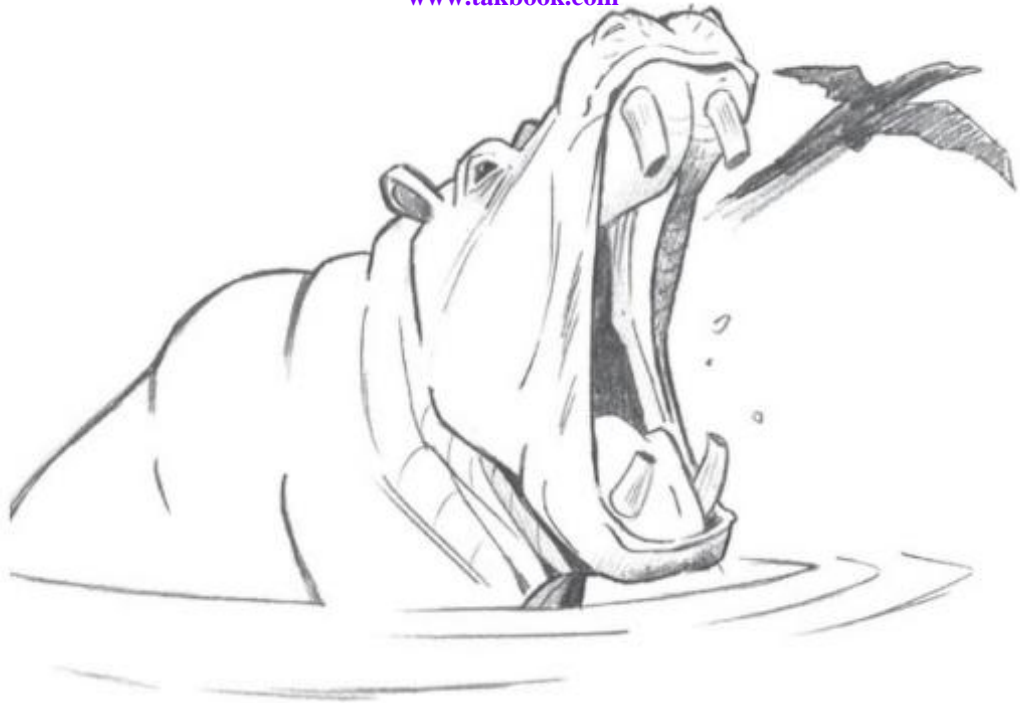

http://ketabnak.com/profiles/m_alizadeh

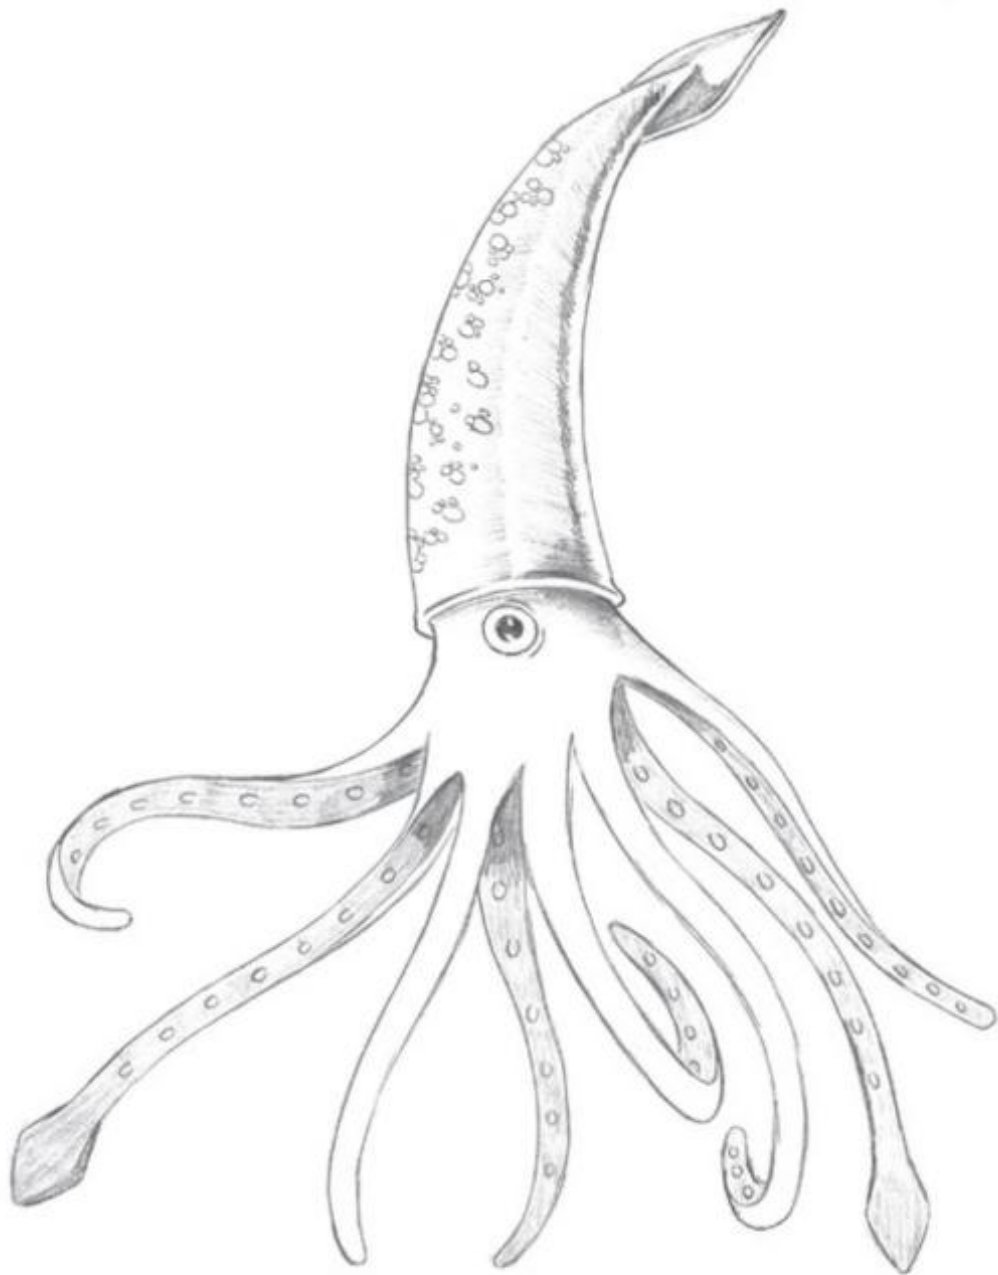

YOUNG ARTISTS DRAW ANIMALS

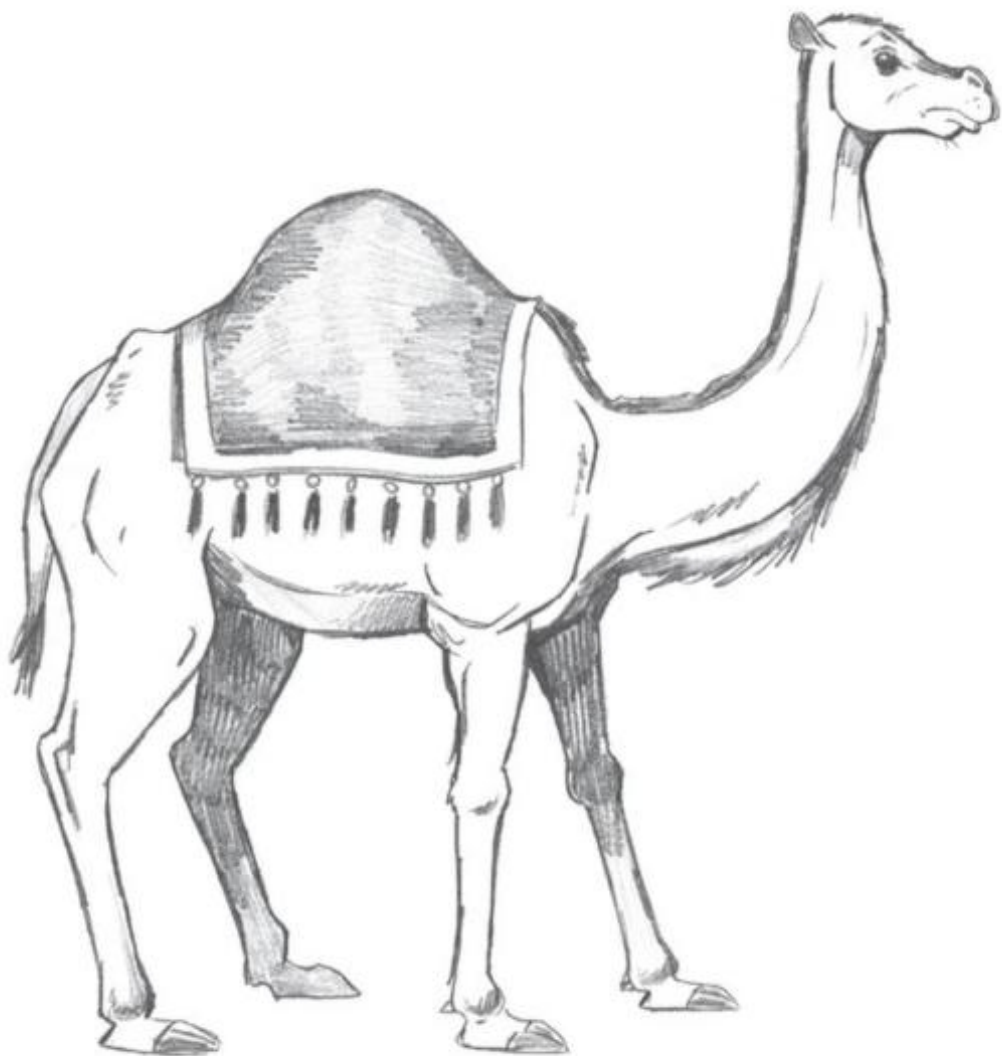

Christopher Hart

Watson-Guption Publications / New York

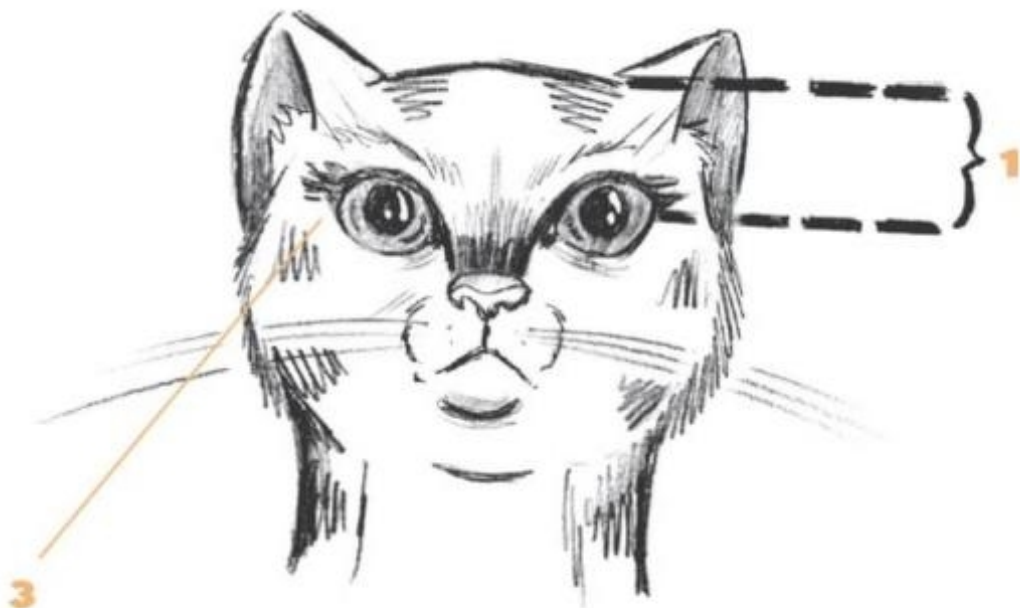

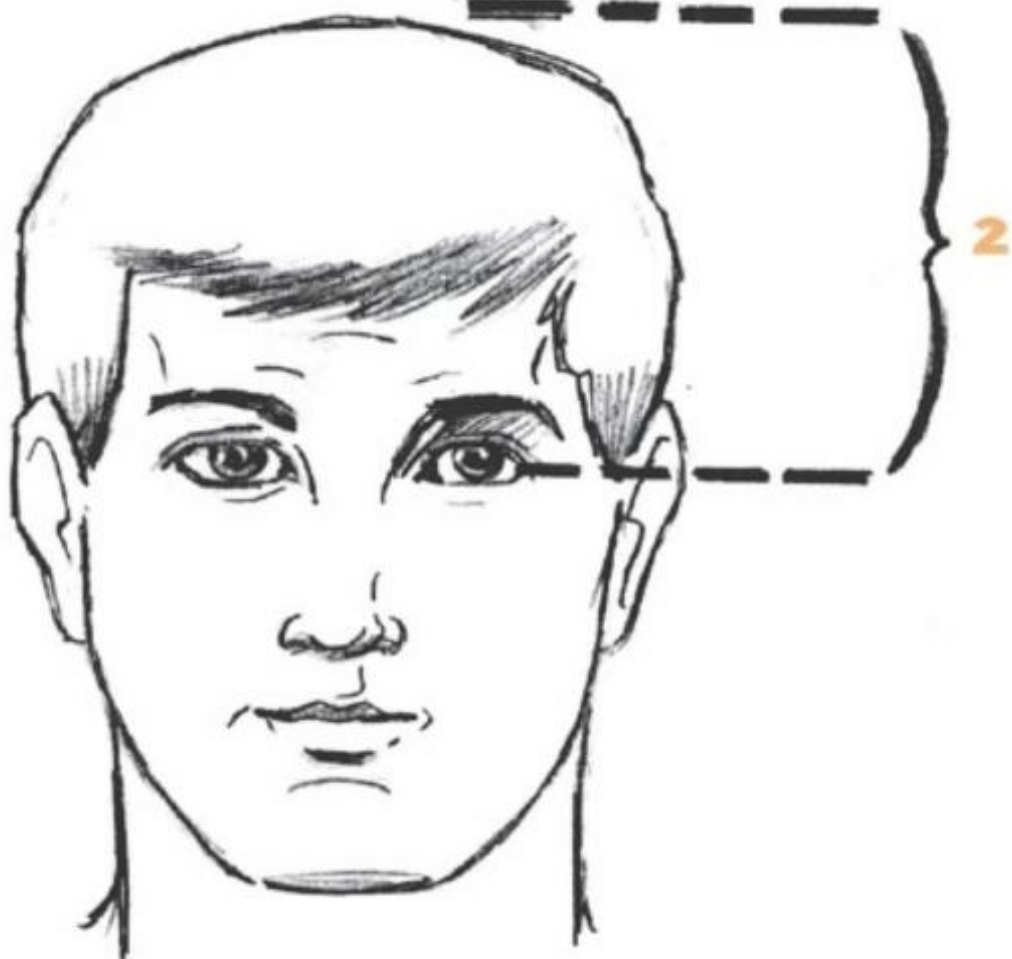

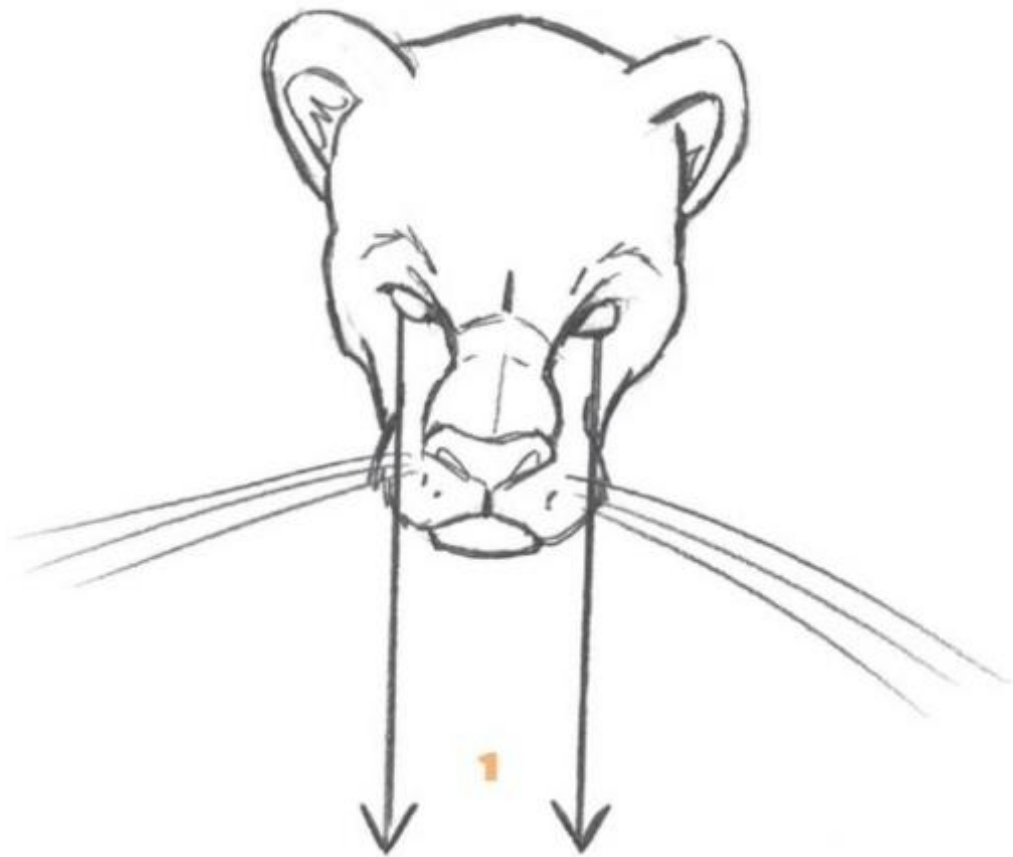

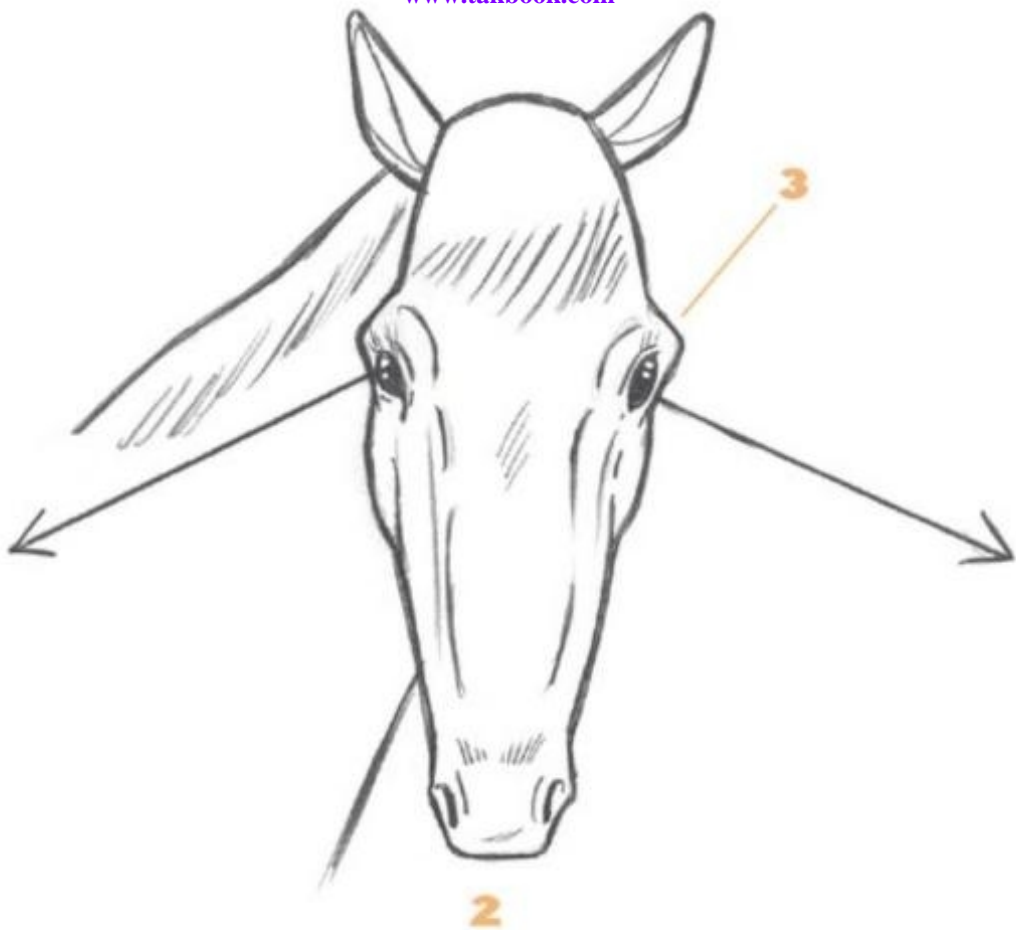

2 Humans have large foreheads. That's because our brains are so big.

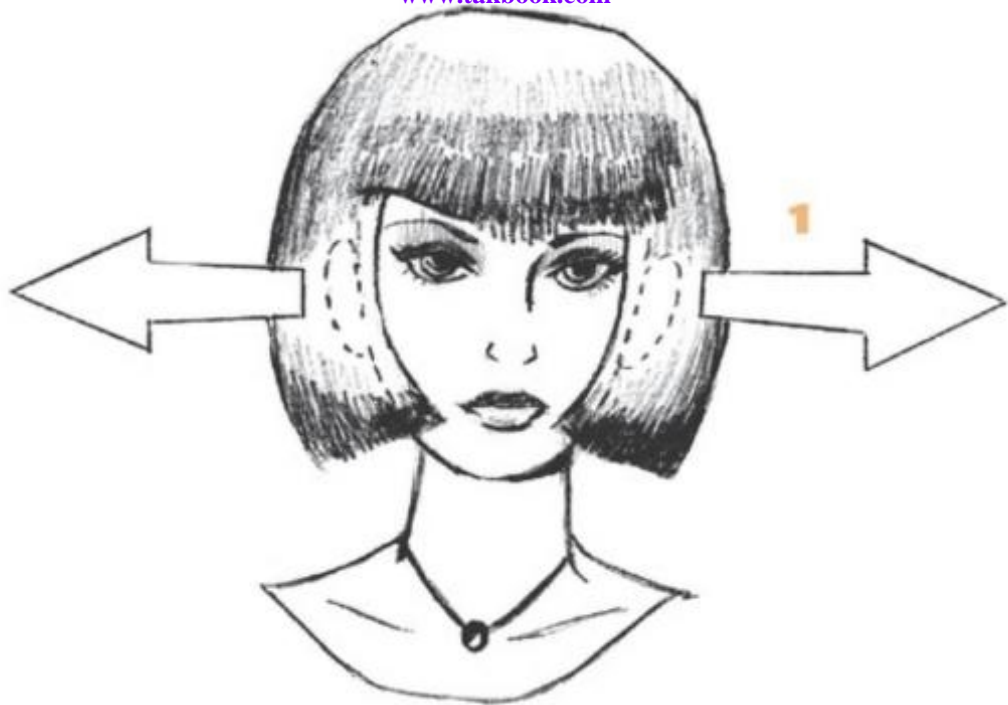

HORSE

2 Animal ears are attached to the head at an angle, and therefore, point outward at a diagonal.

Notice the difference?

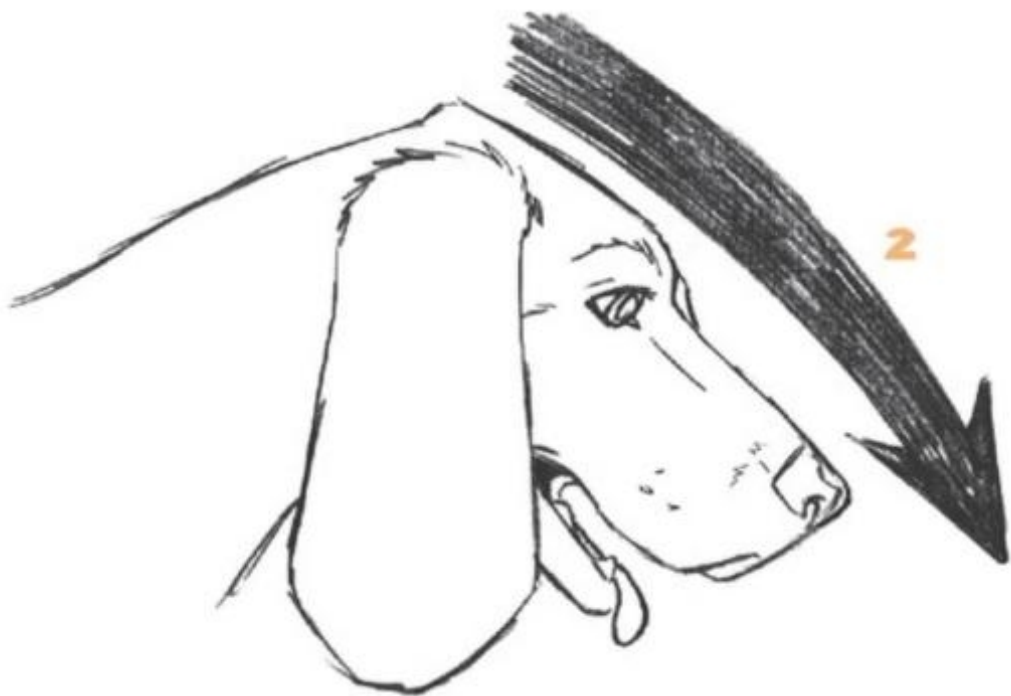

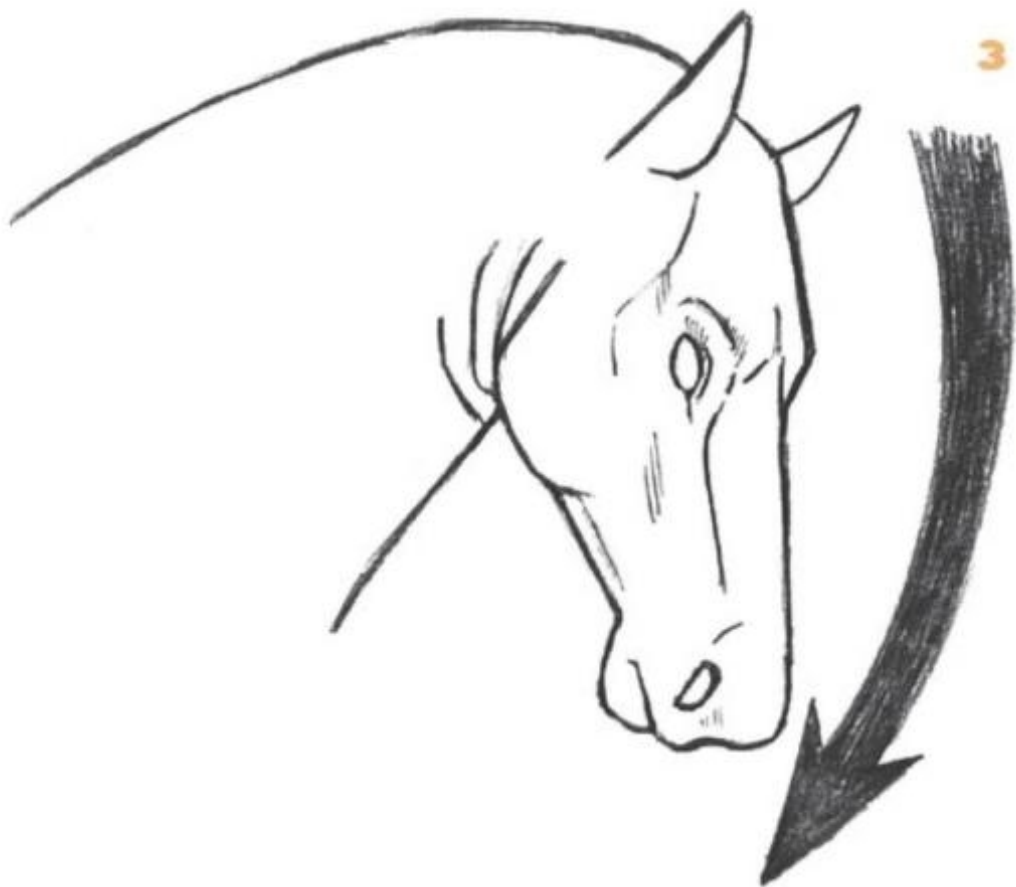

1

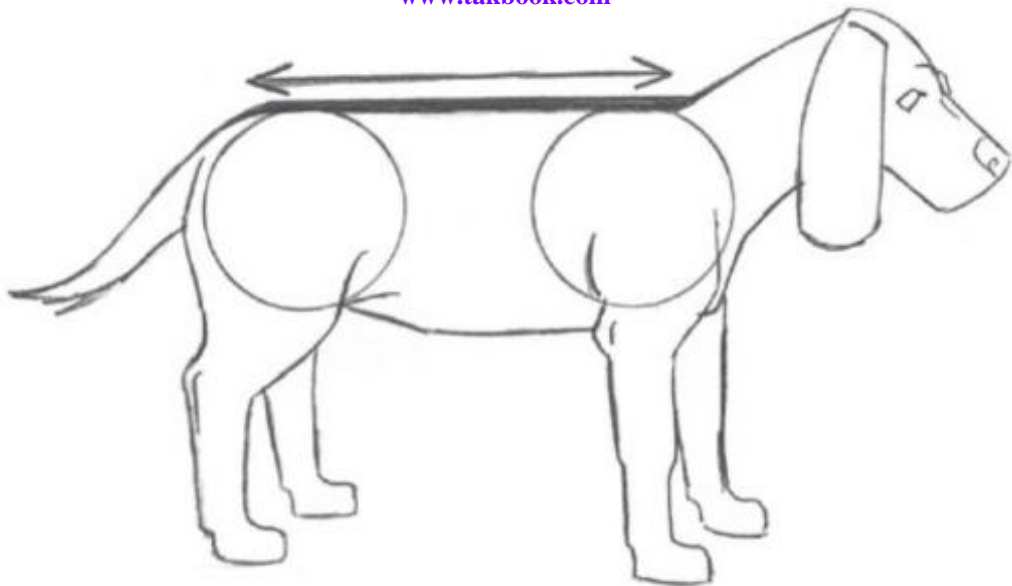

2 The heads of dogs (and other medium-size animals) tilt down slightly.

its head seems fused to its body.

Try to limit the use of straight lines.

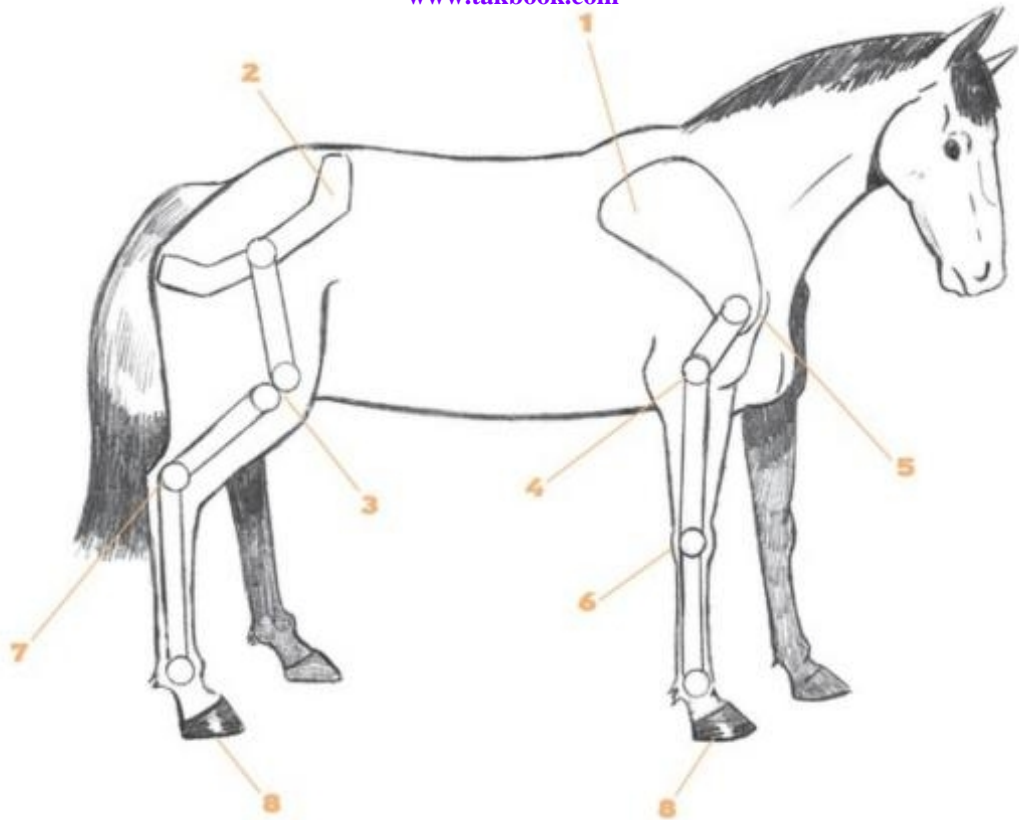

The tail is not “pasted” onto the rump.

See how curved lines look more natural?

The tail travels off the rump in a single, sweeping line.

1 Shoulder blade

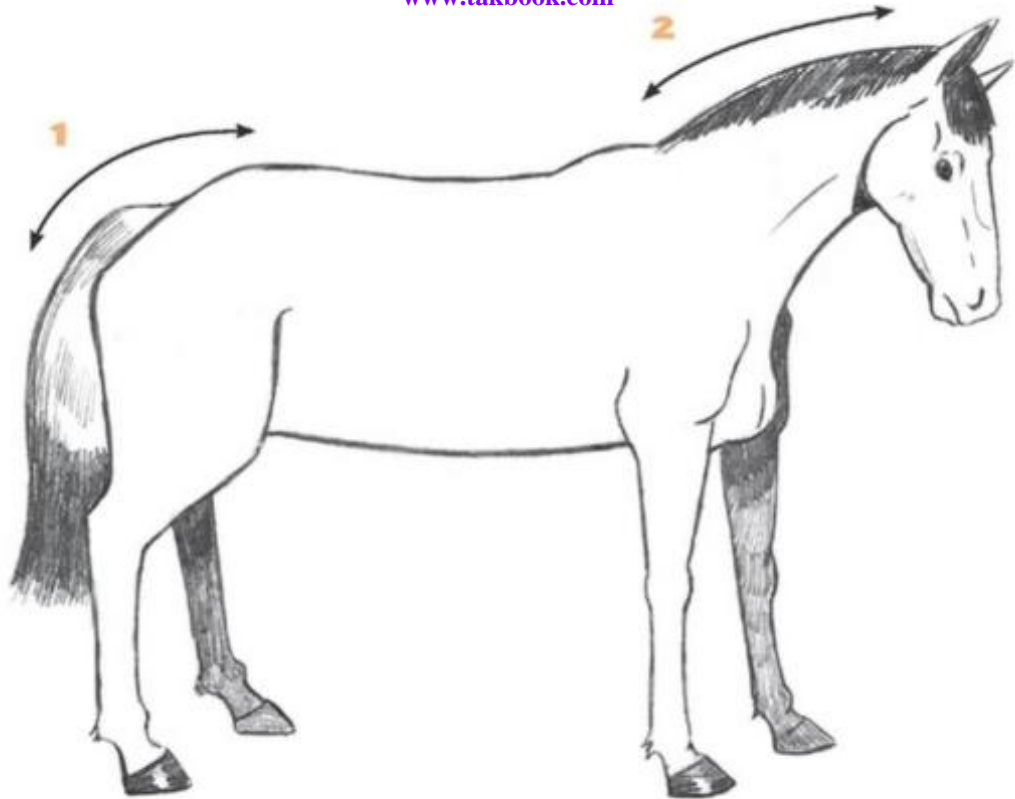

5 Shoulder

2 Hip

6 Wrist

3 Knee

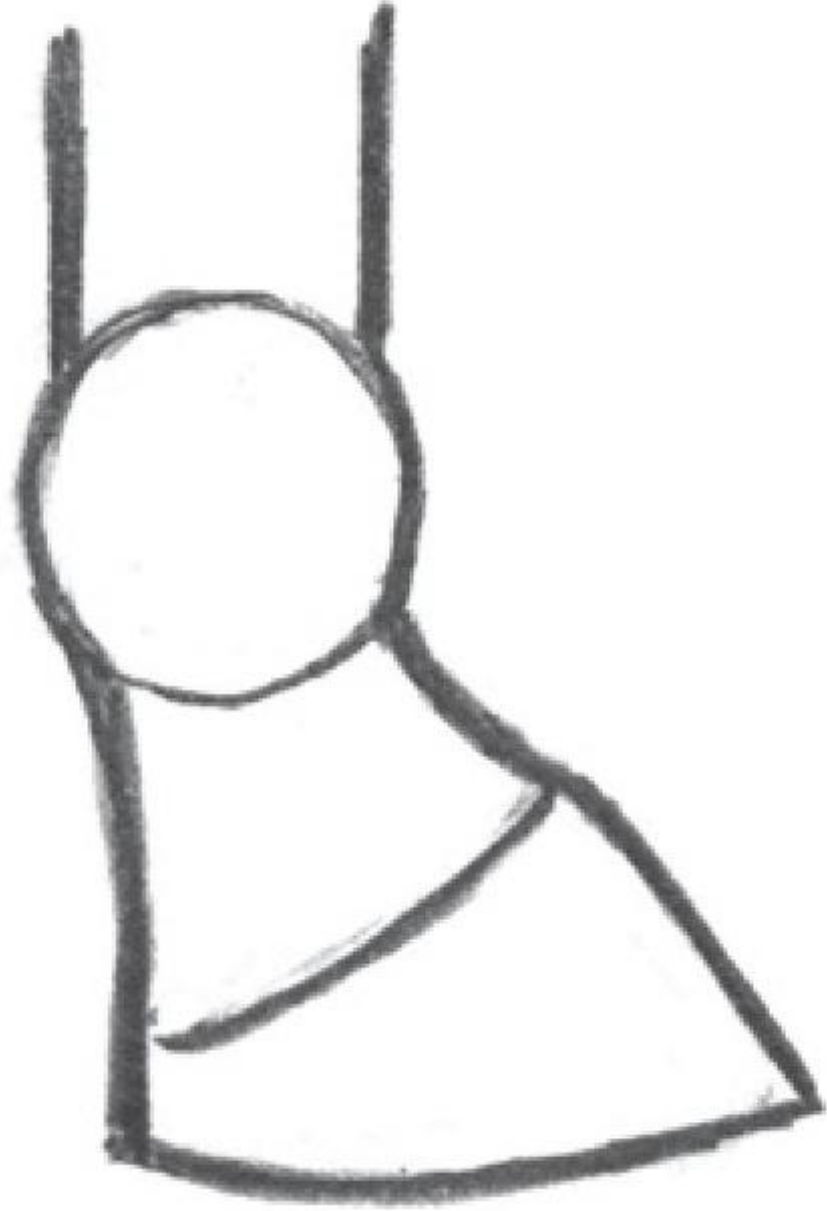

7 Heel

3 The bodies of sharks, whales, and fish usually taper to a

1

2

3

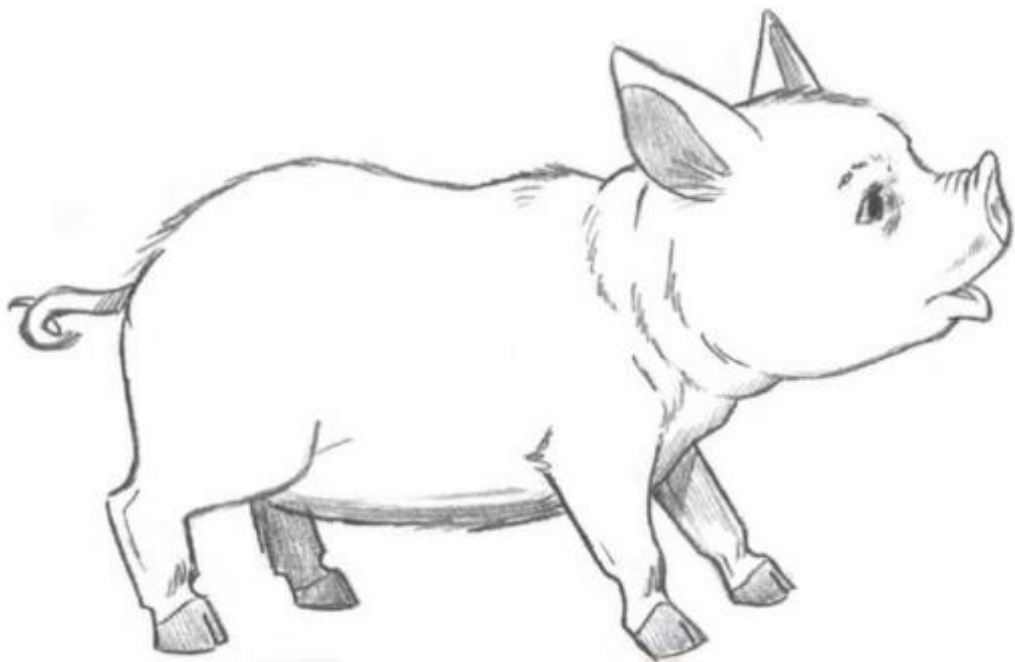

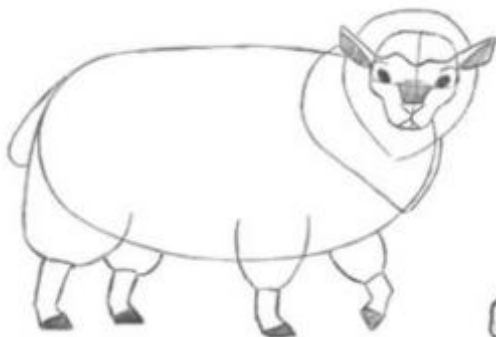

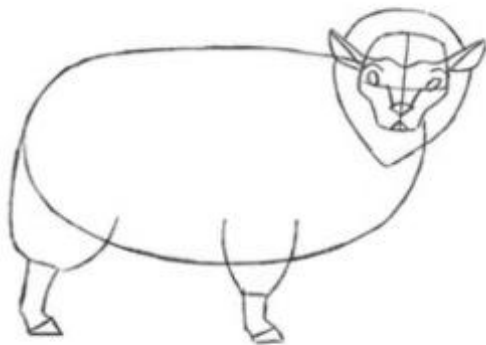

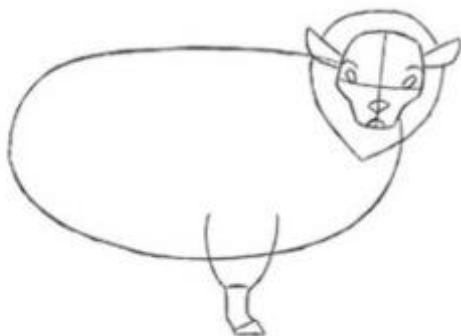

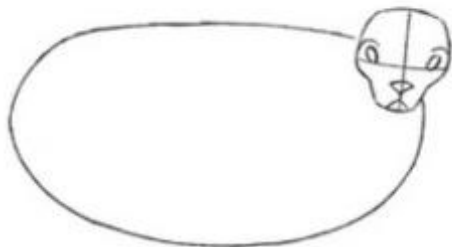

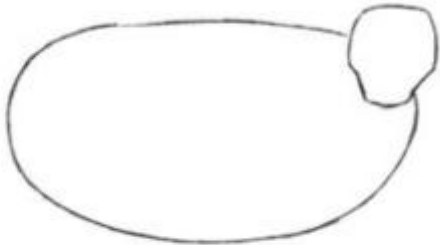

4

somewhat familiar to us, which helps in drawing them.

be among the most deadly animals on Earth, like the cobra, or the most harmless, like the frog.

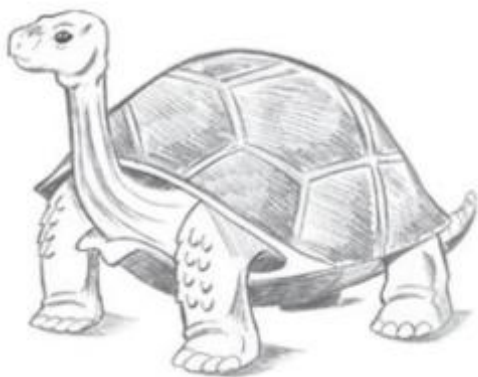

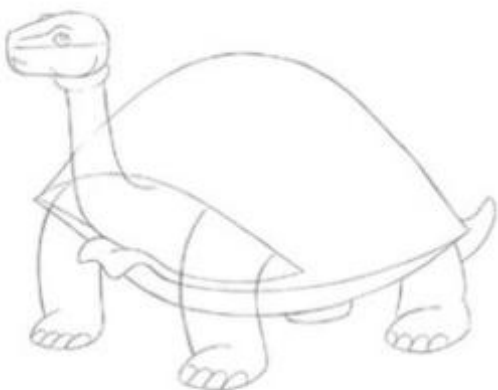

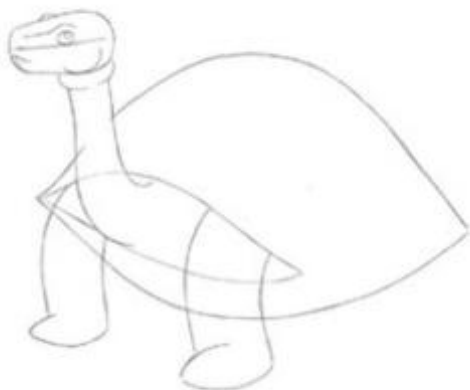

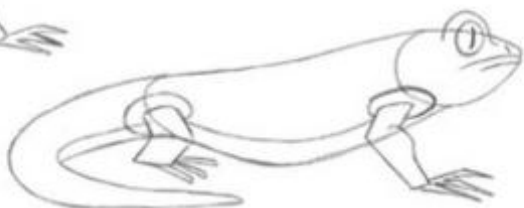

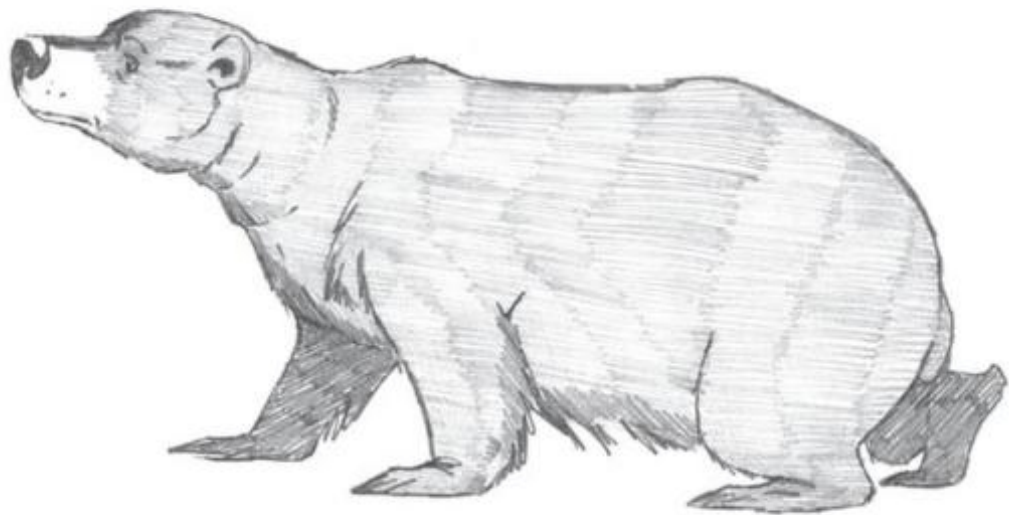

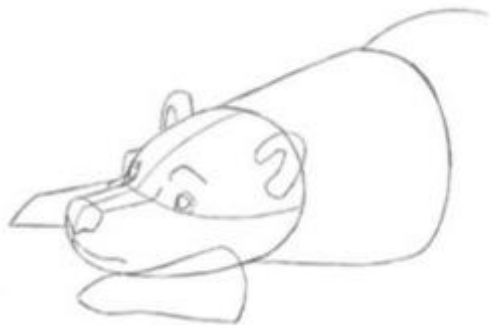

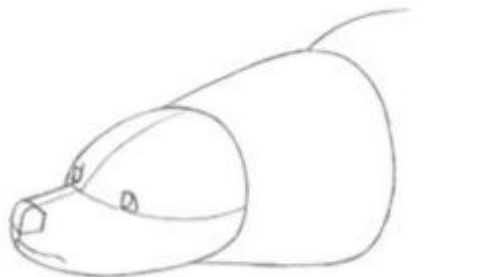

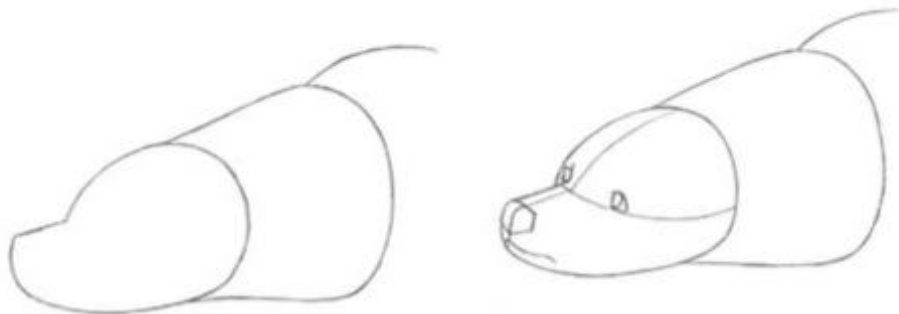

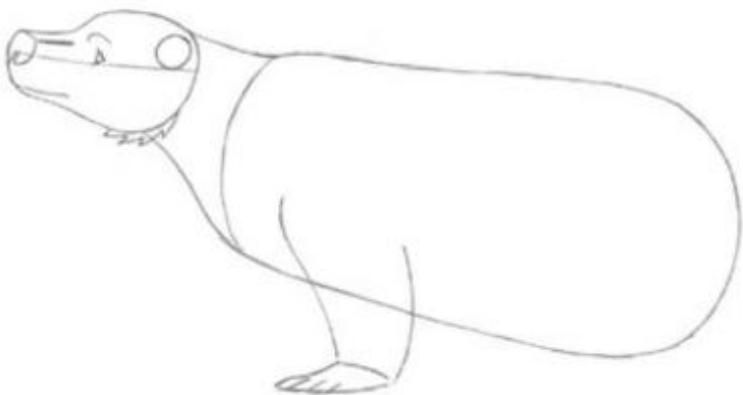

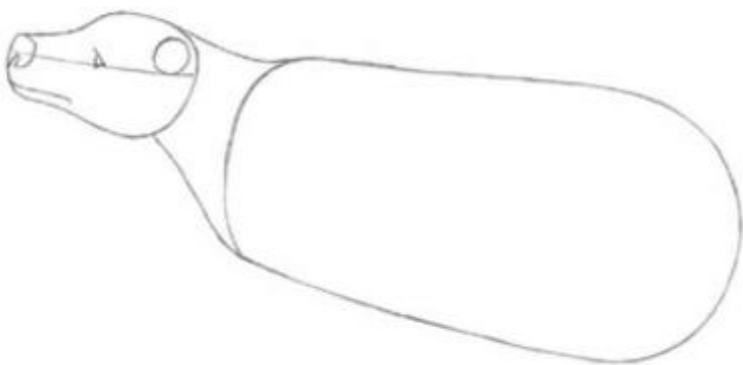

an adult bear's head, try to remember that the snout is long and thin, but the head is wide and round. Cubs have shorter snouts.

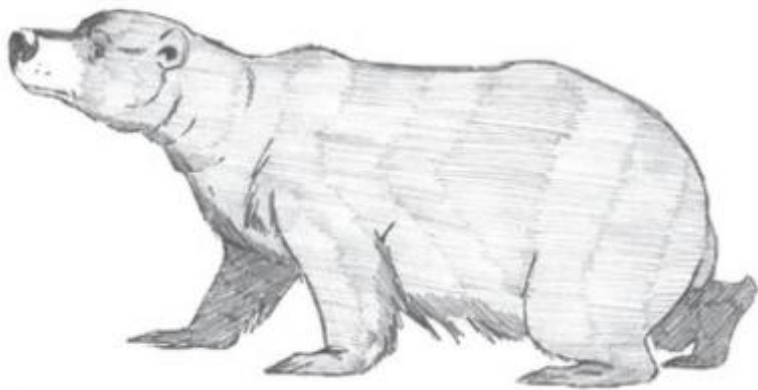

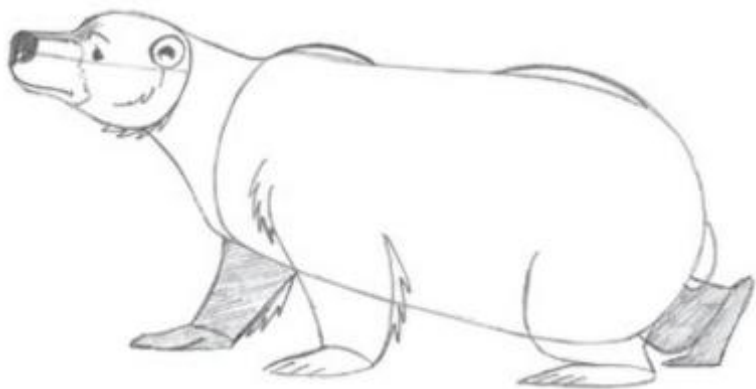

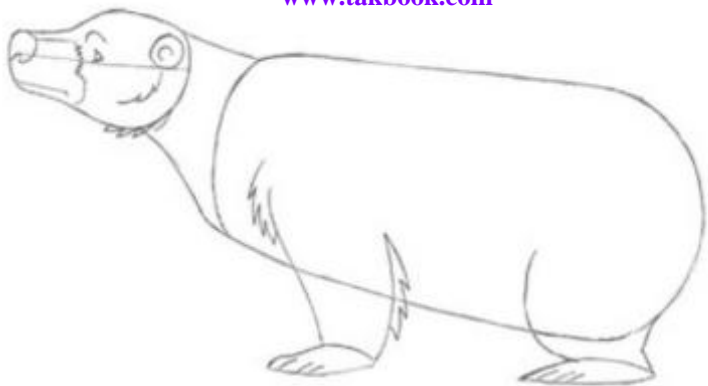

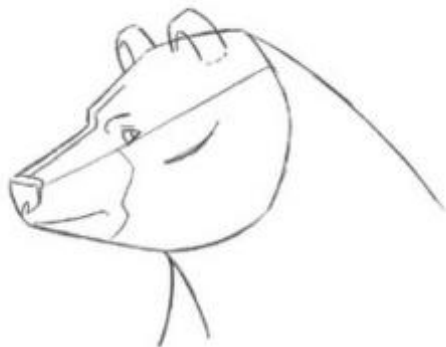

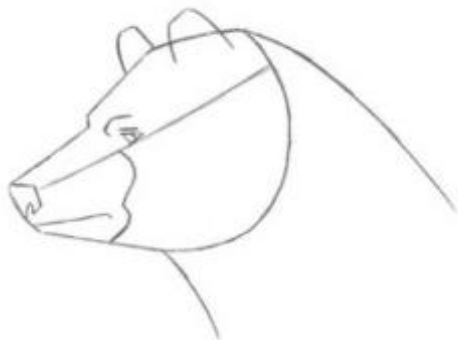

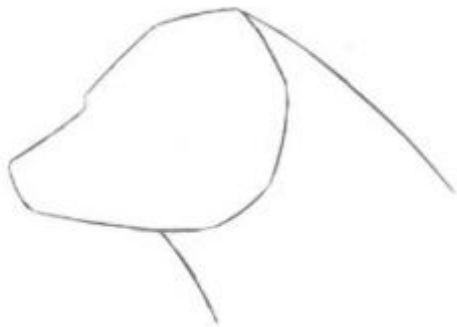

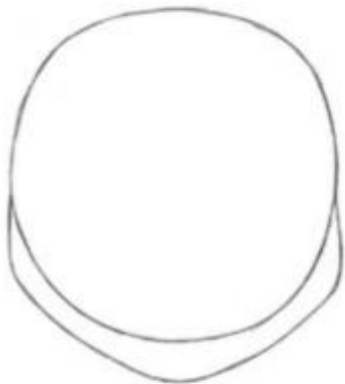

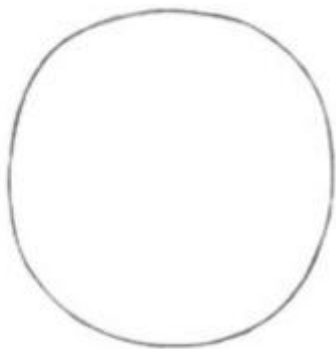

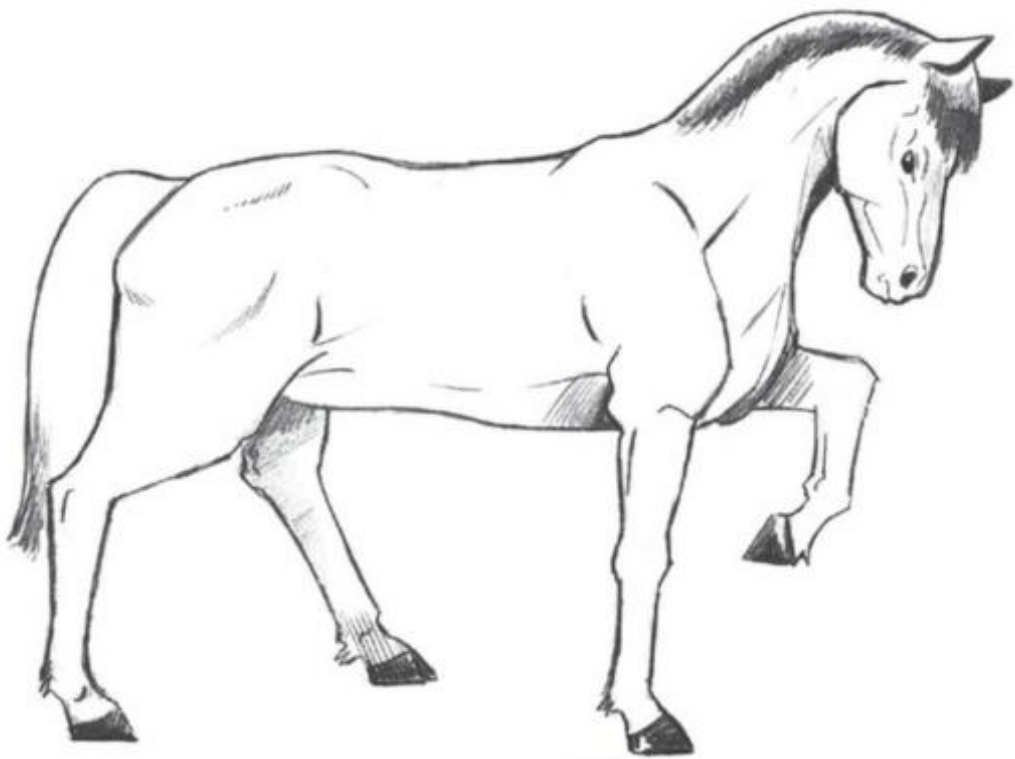

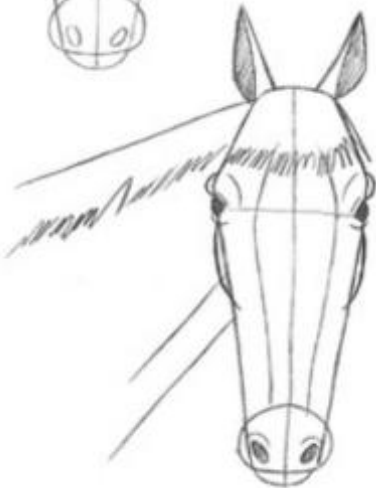

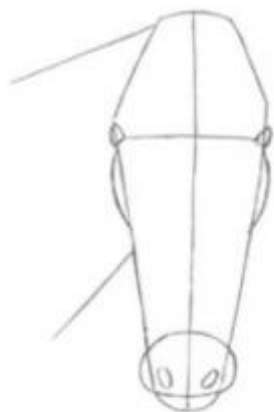

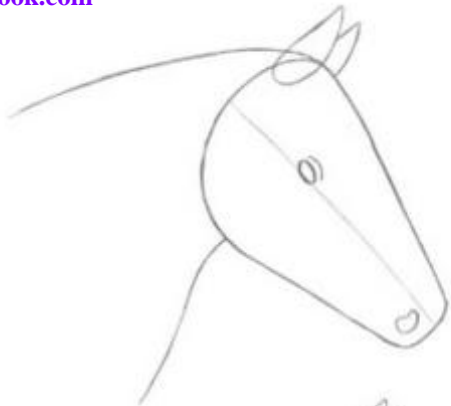

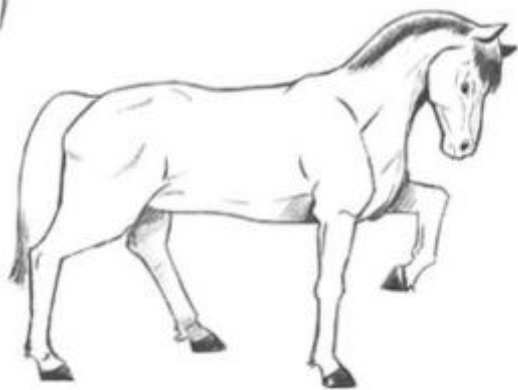

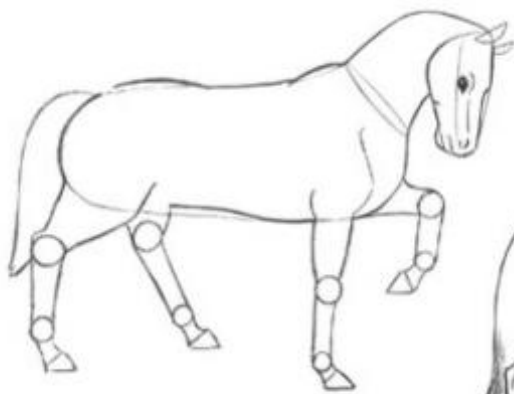

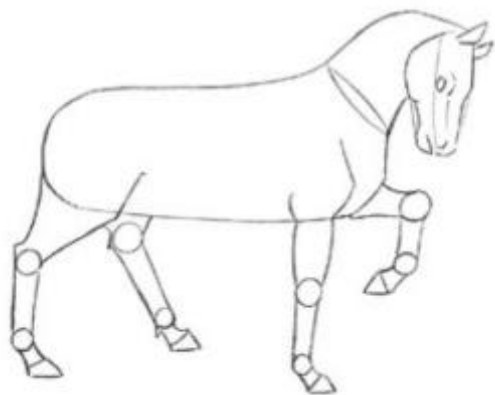

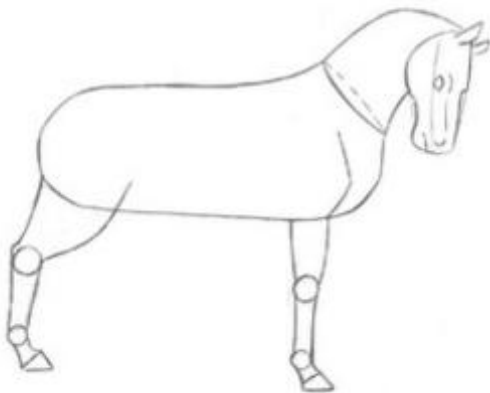

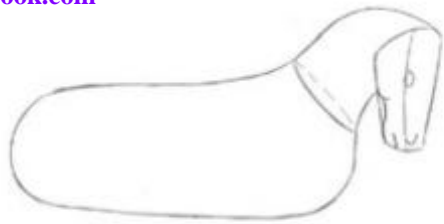

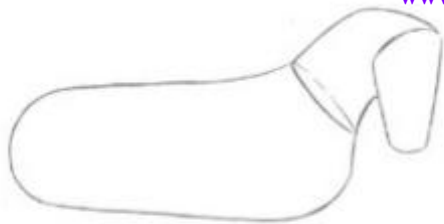

making your horses look accurate and realistic.

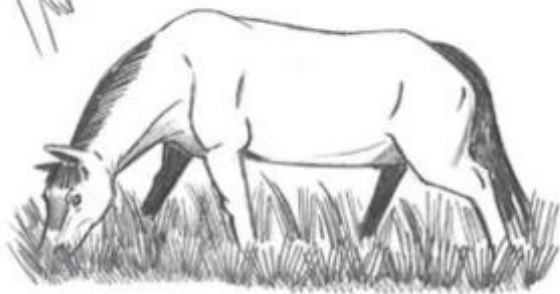

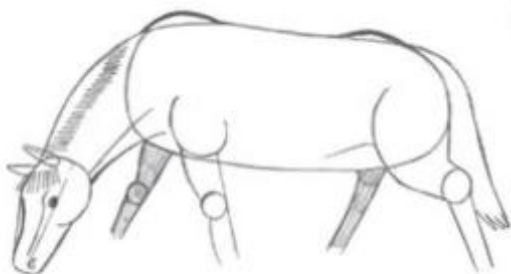

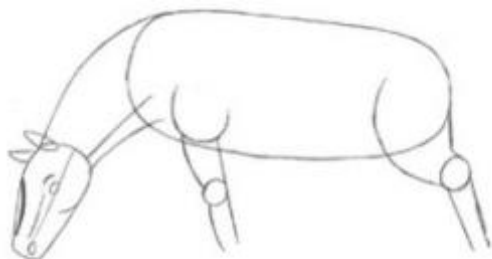

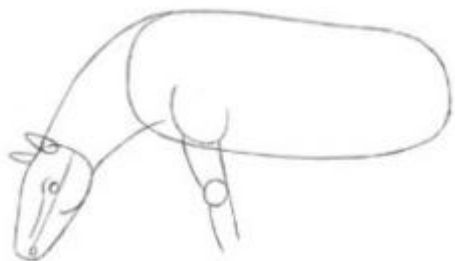

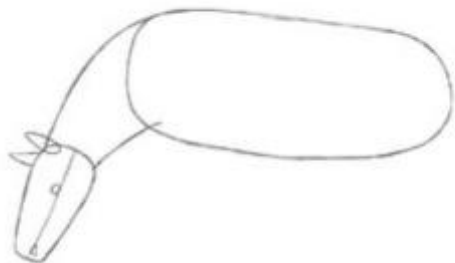

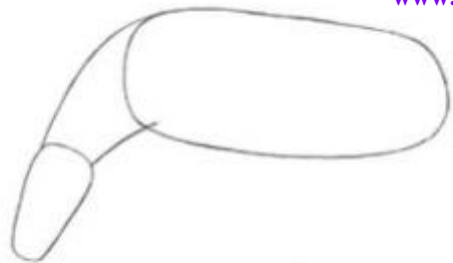

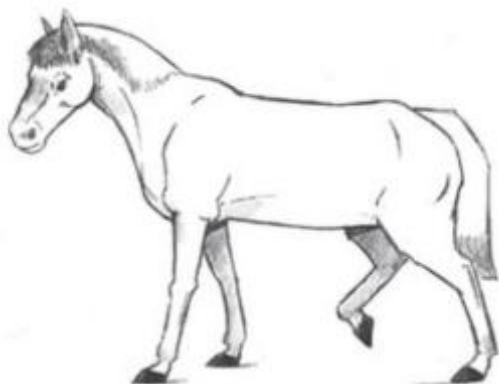

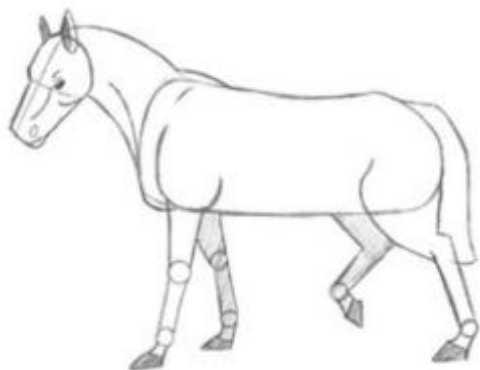

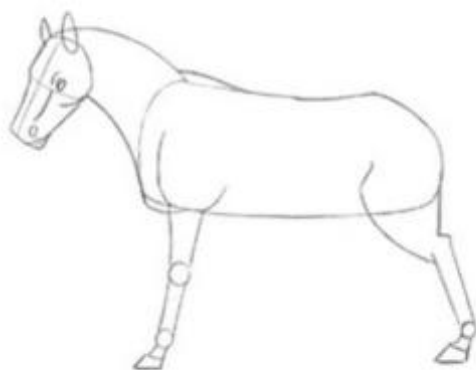

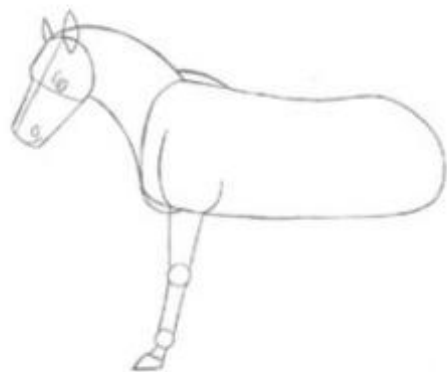

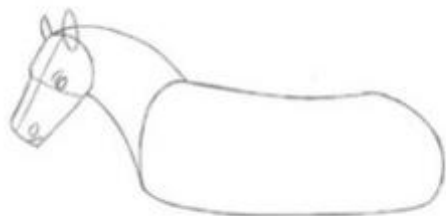

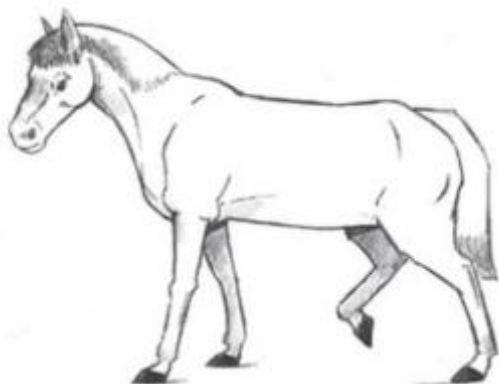

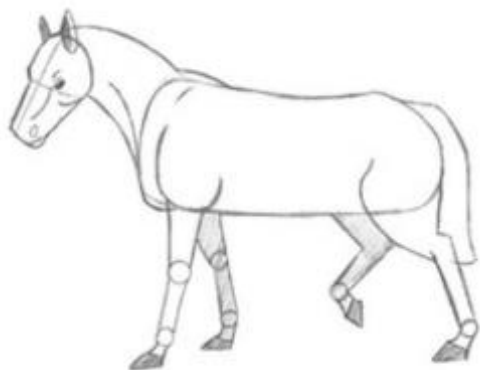

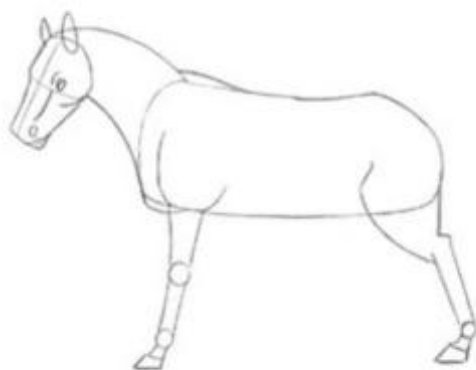

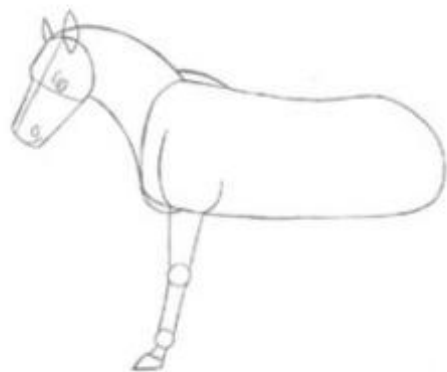

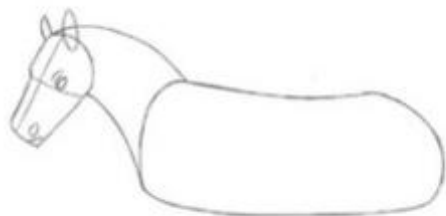

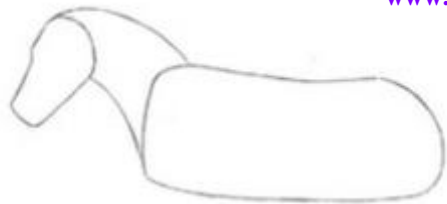

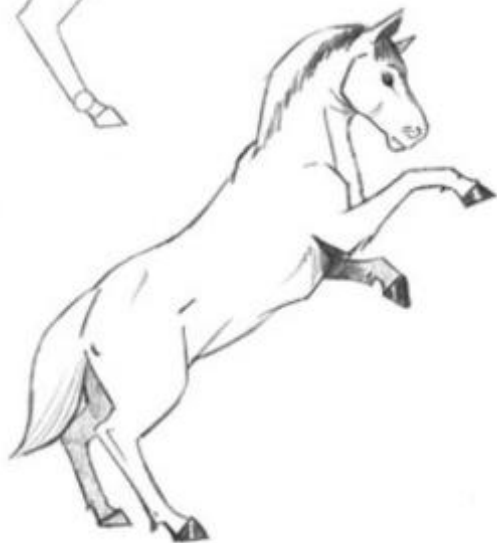

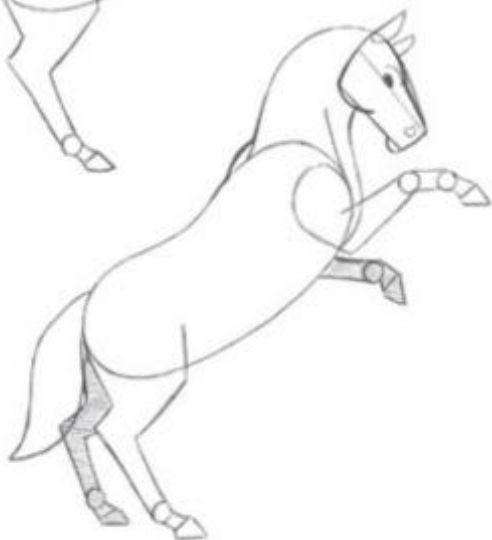

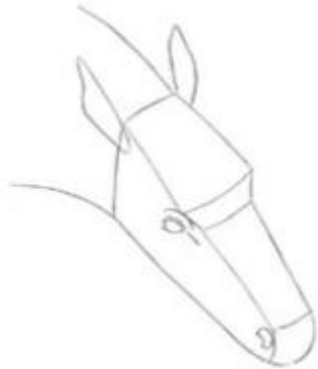

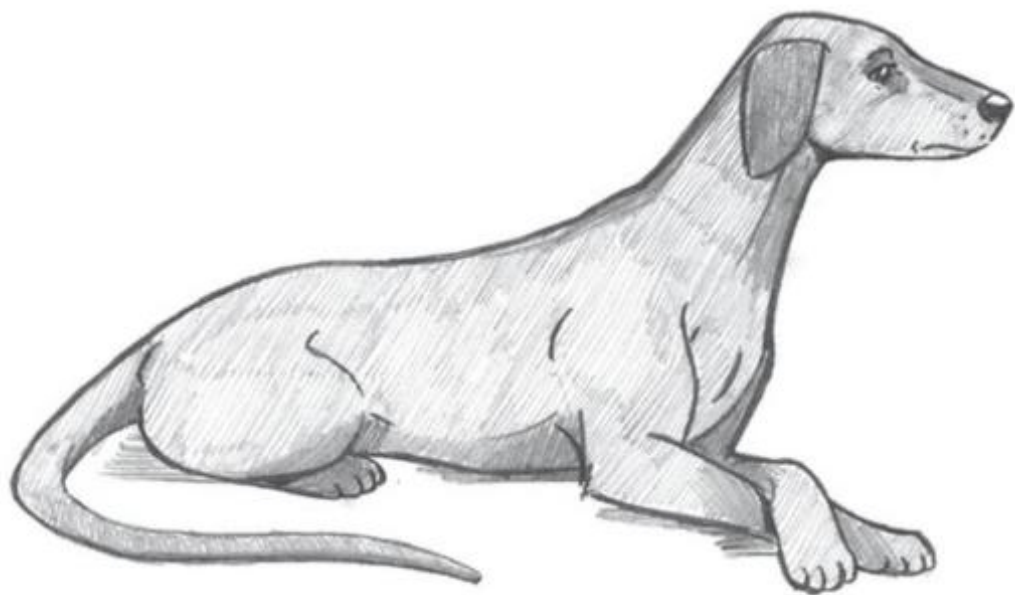

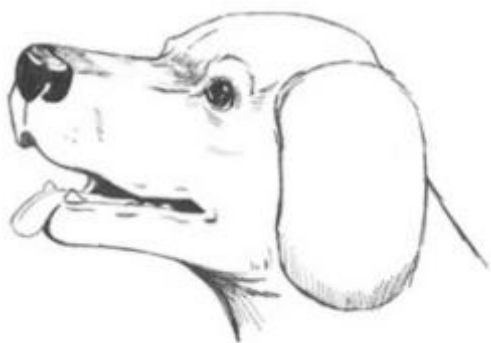

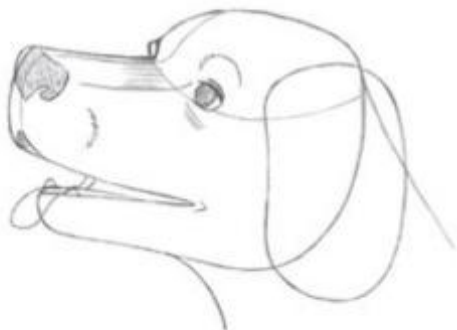

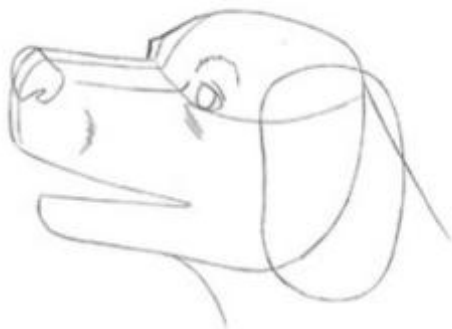

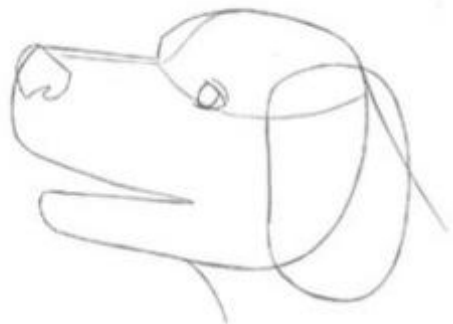

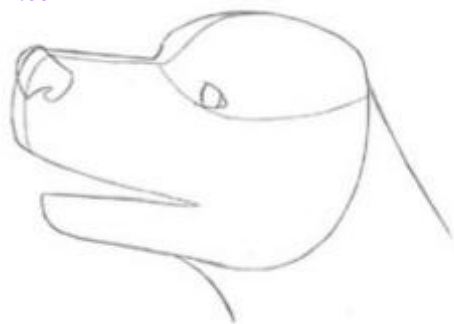

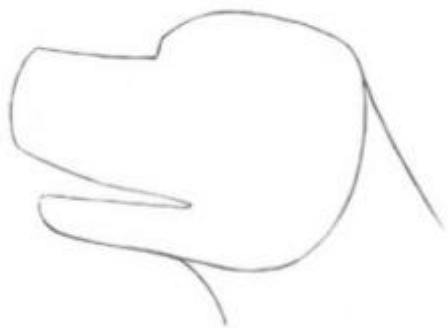

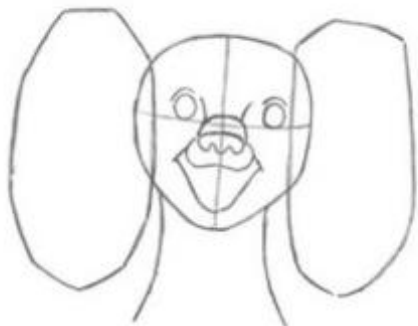

some of these popular traits and famous breeds as you tackle these next few pages.

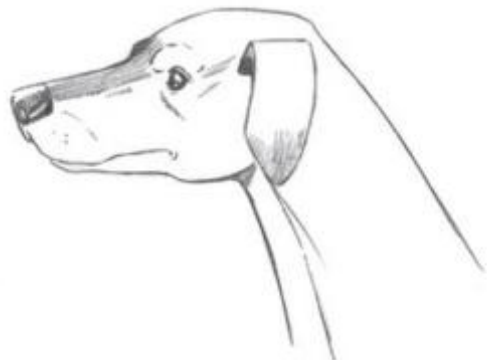

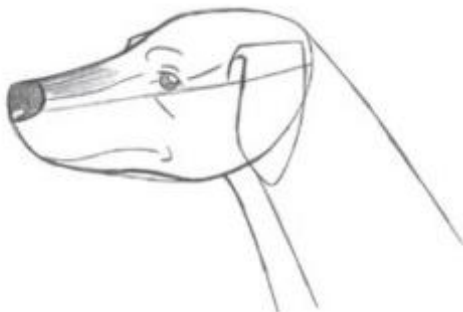

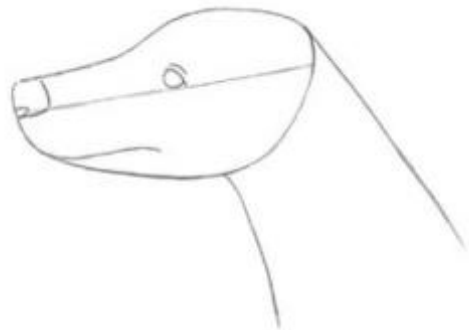

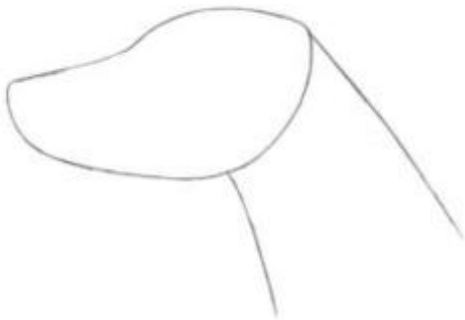

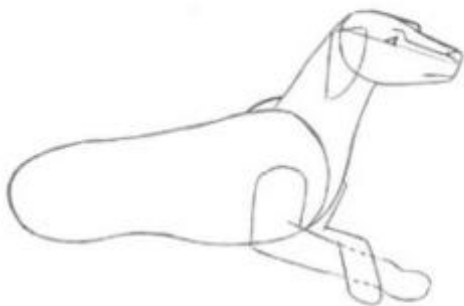

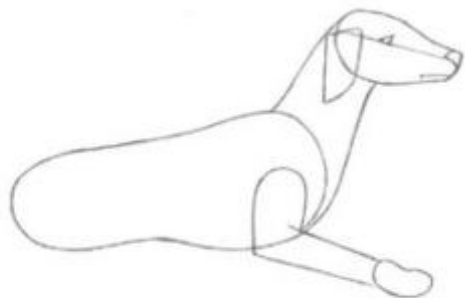

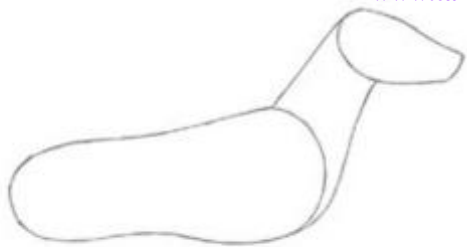

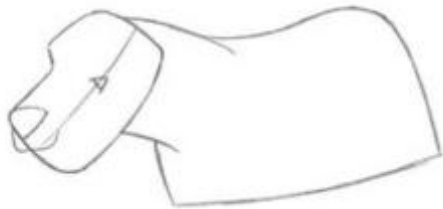

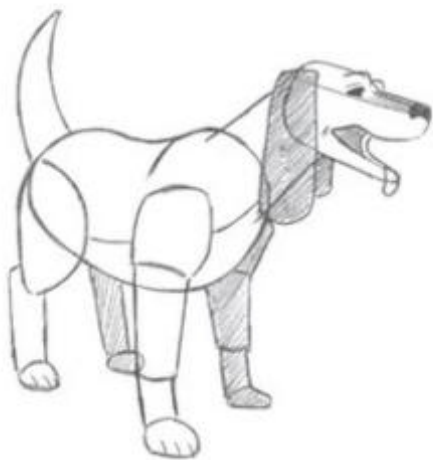

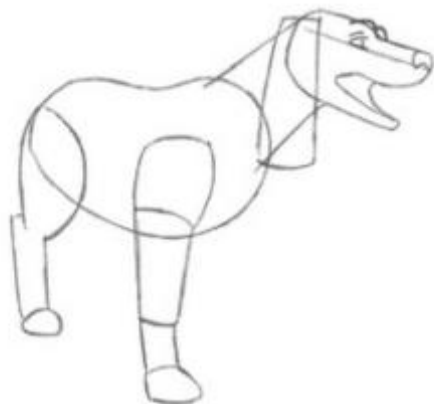

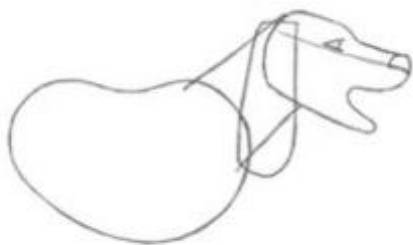

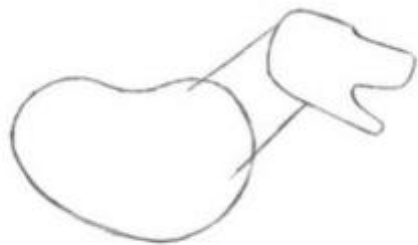

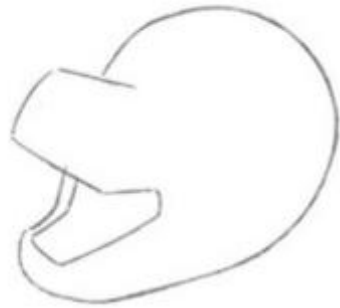

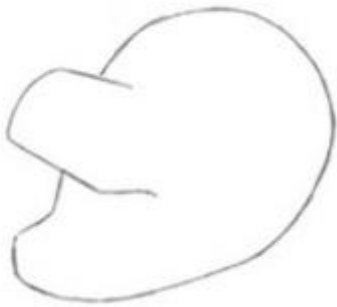

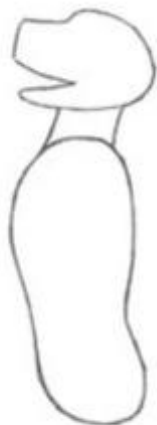

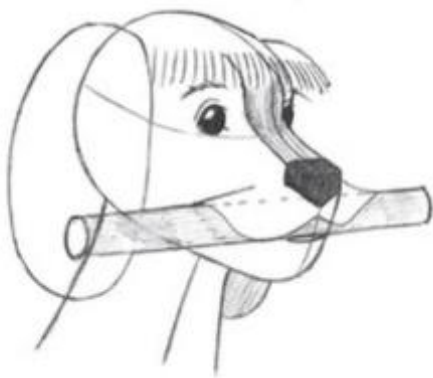

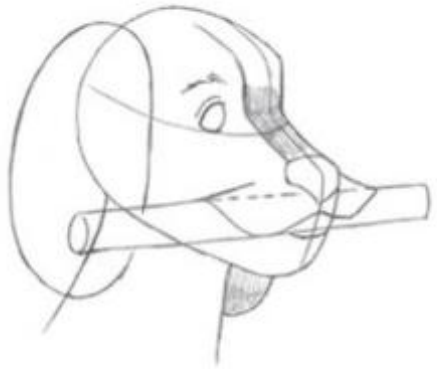

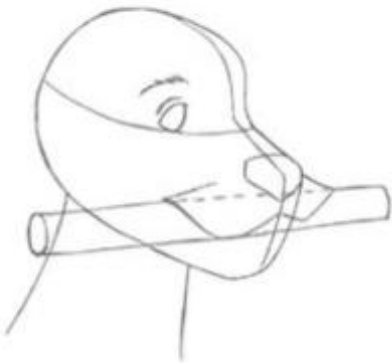

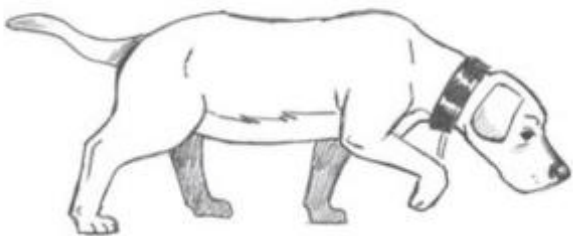

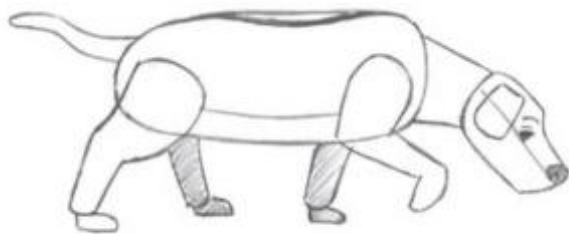

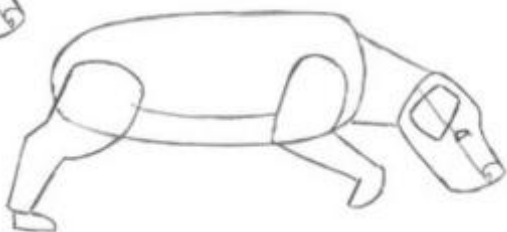

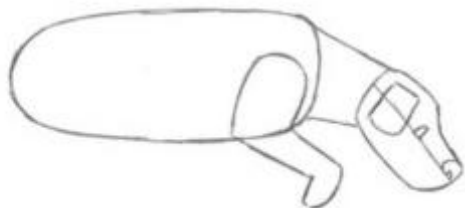

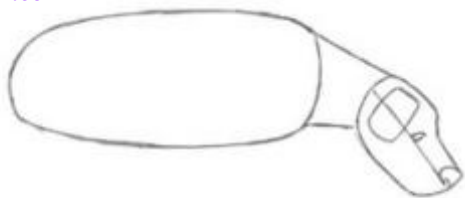

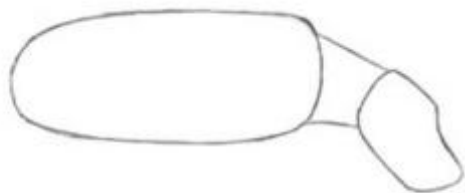

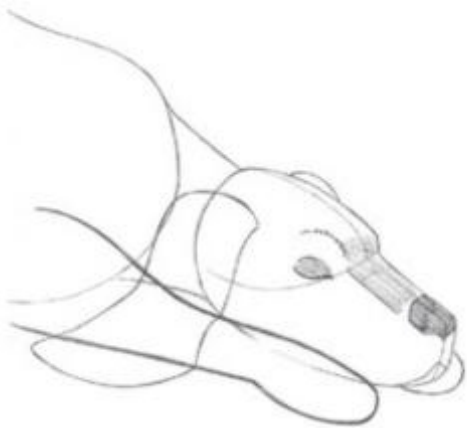

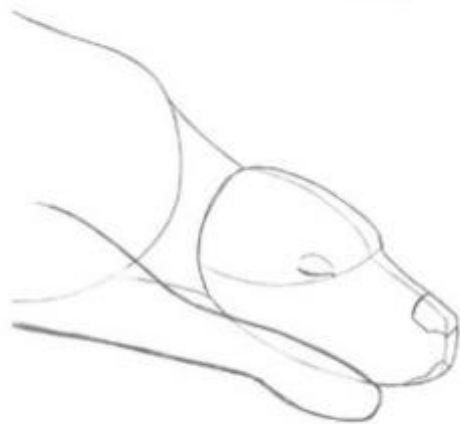

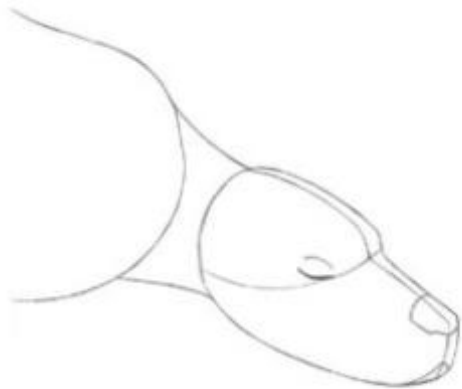

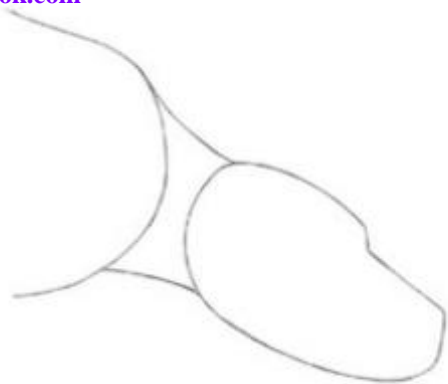

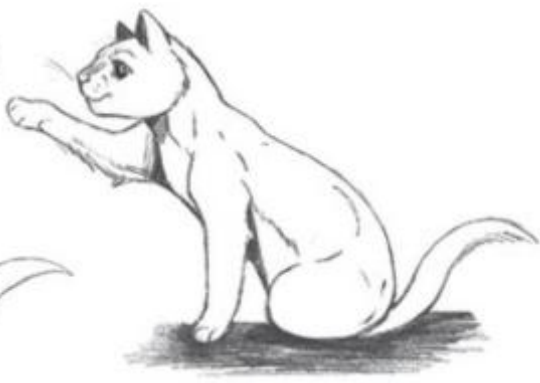

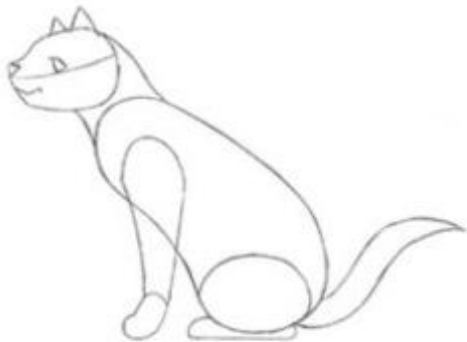

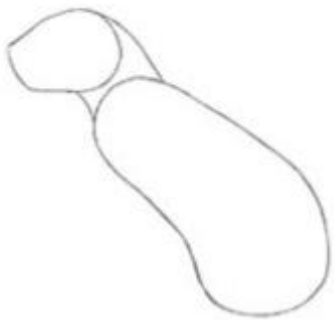

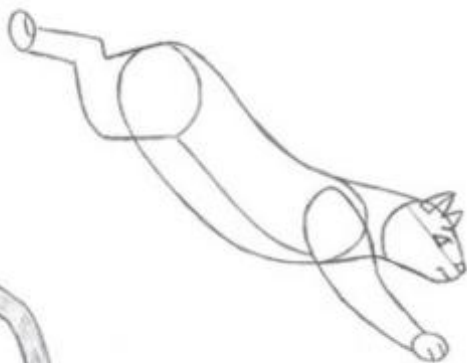

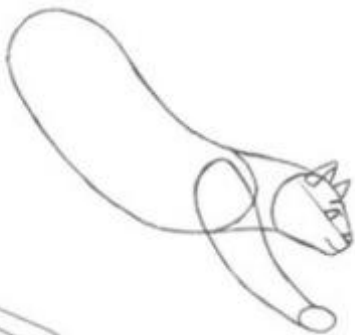

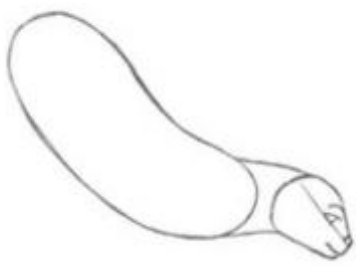

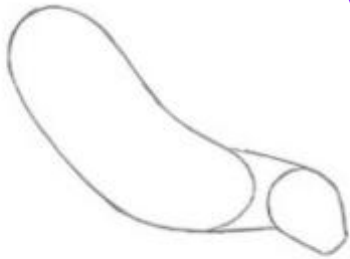

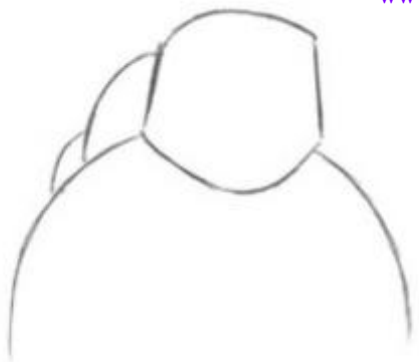

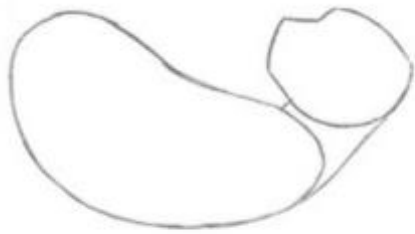

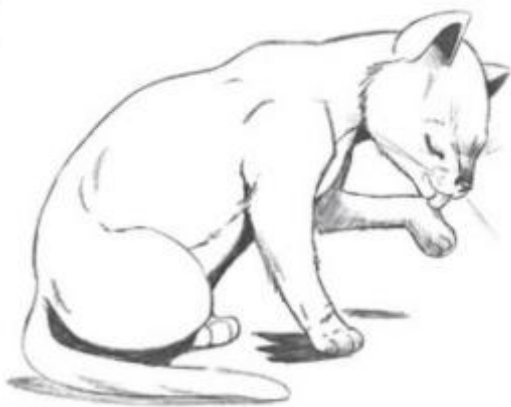

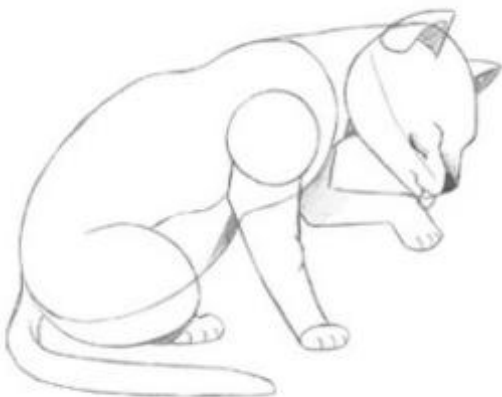

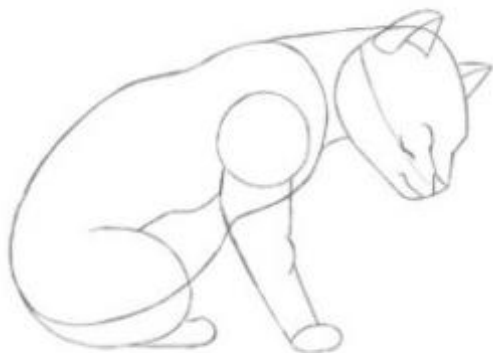

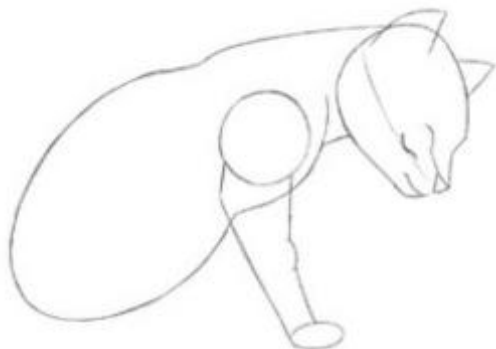

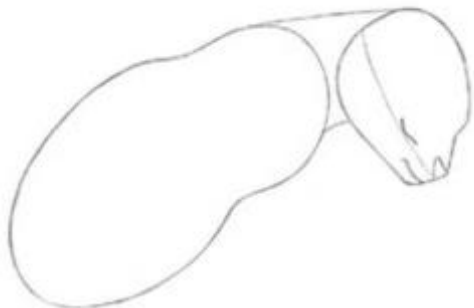

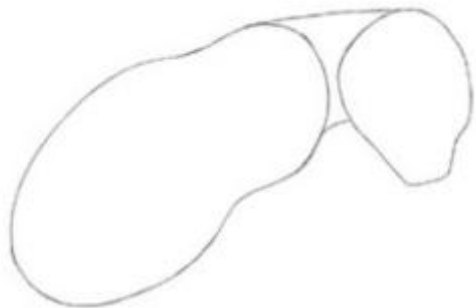

www.takbook.com

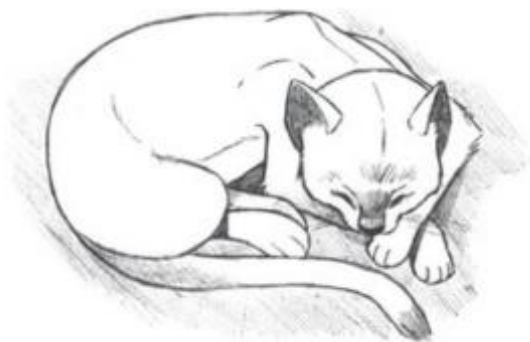

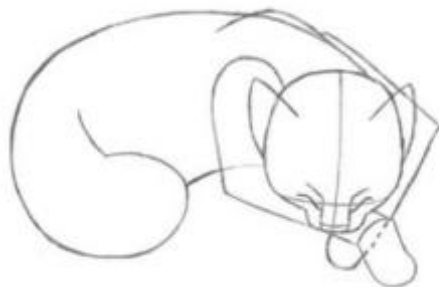

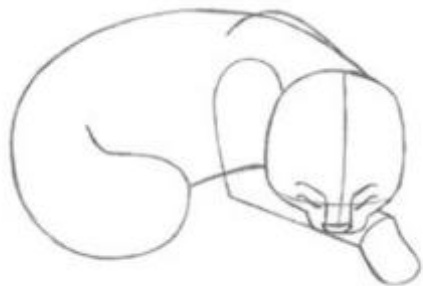

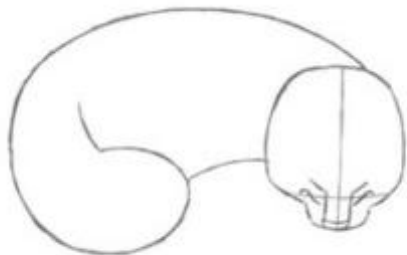

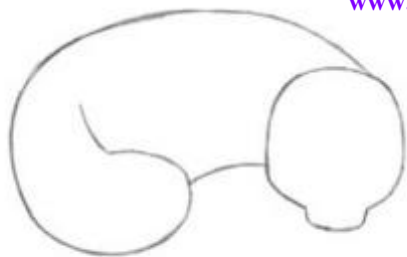

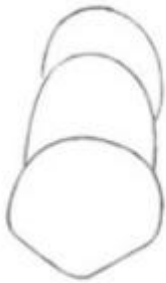

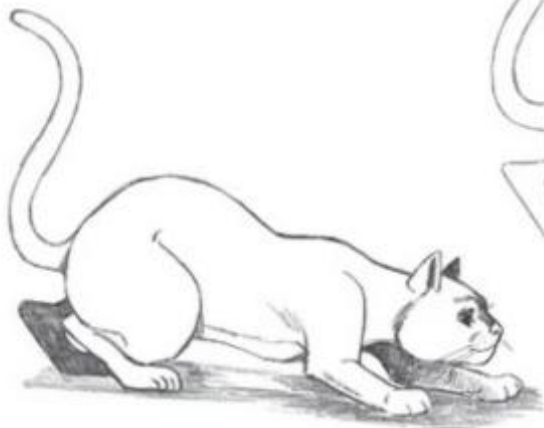

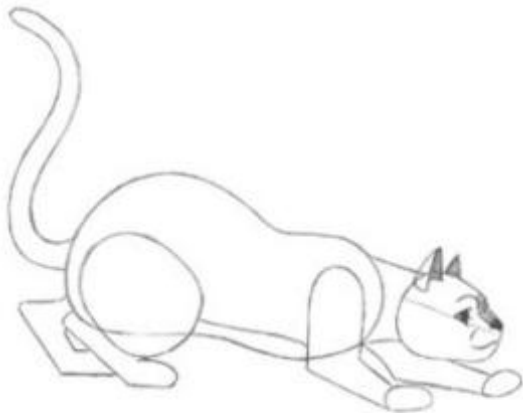

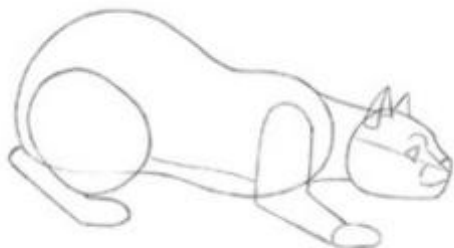

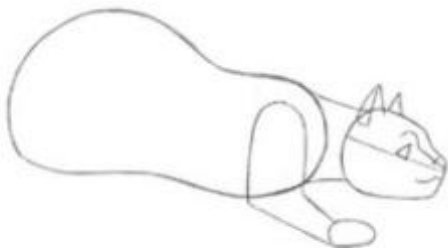

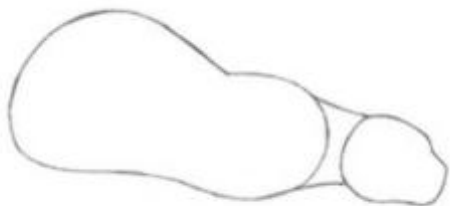

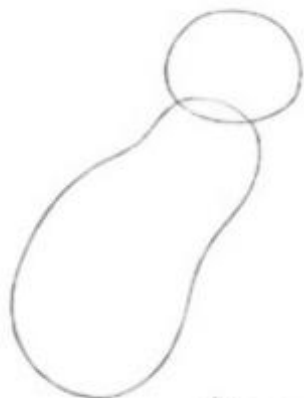

much more lifelike they become once you know how to incorporate these important touches.

